

JEFF ROSS

Jeff Ross is a family man, based on Christian values and incorporates those same values when it comes to building the home of your dreams. With four children of his own, he understand the concerns and questions that first time homeowners face when making the decision to buy or build a new home.

Specializing in custom built homes, Jeff's handiwork can be seen through the many details such as the beautiful trim and selection of quality products.

Having over 30 years of experience he will be there for you from start to finish and this is the reason he has earned the trust of many satisfied return customers. They consider him a friend and are a testimonial of why Jeff Ross Construction should be your choice in selecting a contractor for your new home!
